

Technologically, there is "bandwidth" available for more diverse forms of expression, points of view, and common ground.

the concentration of the media, its industry & capabilities, will lessen all that is possible.